

Test Document for PDF Processing

This is a test PDF document created for testing the PDF Processing Service microservice integration.

The document contains multiple paragraphs to test text extraction and markdown conversion.

PDF Processing Service should be able to extract this text and convert it to markdown format.

This test helps verify that the main API correctly delegates PDF processing to the microservice.

The integration should work seamlessly between the main application and the PDF processor.